

FULL-SERVICE SUPPLIER

EMPLOYEE HEALTH & SANITATION PRODUCTS

Never has there been a greater employee health challenge.

The countless manufacturers who reduced, halted or even ramped up operations in response to the COVID-19 pandemic must now gear up for a recovery plan. With the risk of human health and safety at the forefront, it is imperative to have a trusted full-service supplier to help you protect your personnel now and in the future.

Over the past three decades, Advanced Technology Services (ATS) has developed and fine-tuned a significant supply chain network. As specialists in industrial maintenance services and MRO asset management, we as a company, and each of our customers, are consumers of industrial supplies, products, and parts. We have established strong relationships with strategic channel partners to ensure a reliable and cost-effective supply chain.

To address the evolving safety needs manufacturers are looking for, our product offering includes essential health and wellness solutions related to employee health, machine sanitation, and environmental cooling and cleanliness.

EMPLOYEE HEALTH

Personal protective equipment (PPE) and hygiene products mitigate risks to personnel working in corporate and manufacturing environments. Scanning employees, contractors, and visitors for elevated temperatures enables access restrictions for individuals who appear symptomatic.

Example solutions include:

- Masks, face shields, and gloves
- Hand sanitizers and cleaning wipes
- Handheld temperature measurement devices
- Fixed and portable intelligent thermographic screening camera systems with optional ATS on-site service for a complete monitoring solution

MACHINE SANITIZATION

Cleaning, sanitizing, and disinfecting machine and facility surfaces helps to protect users who come in contact with them. ATS can provide:

- Industrial atomizers and thermal foggers
- Backpack, tank, and handheld sprayers
- Germicidal cleaners and disinfectants
- Antibacterial screen protectors in custom sizes for industrial controls, HMI, and operator stations

ENVIRONMENTAL COOLING AND CLEANLINESS

Improving ventilation and evacuating stale air may help to minimize the spread of the virus.

Available solutions include:

- Portable cooling and air circulations units
- Large floor, ceiling, and pedestal fans
- Industrial and commercial air filters for every application
- Industrial circulation units and misters
- Wireless environment sensors and monitoring

The health of the manufacturing industry depends on the health of its workforce. Now more than ever, our number one priority is providing the services and products to keep all employees safe.
